

Brian B. Peacock is the Director of Orchestral Activities at Garland High School and teaches first year IB/AP Music Theory. Mr. Peacock is a native of Austin, Texas where his earliest musical training included studying the violin and double bass as a student in the University of Texas String Project. After graduation from high school, Mr. Peacock entered the University of Texas and eventually became an instructor in the String Project. He graduated from UT Austin with a Bachelor of Music cum laude in 1977 and served schools in the Austin and Brazosport districts before coming to Garland High School in 1988. As Lead Orchestra Teacher for the Garland ISD, Mr. Peacock coordinates the activities of the GISD orchestra program. Other professional activities include adjudicating at UIL contests and other music festivals.

Mr. Peacock remains active as a performer on the double bass through his membership in the Richardson and Lewisville Lake Symphony Orchestras and regularly performs as a freelance musician in the area. He and his wife, Judy, and family live in northeast Garland.
